GENERAL NOTES AND NEWS.

Norwegian girls, who have been doing kitchen work in Iowa at $2 50 a week, are hiring out to work in the harvest fields at $2 to $3 per day.

Two hundred men in Stamford, Conn., are reported to have formed a building association on a new plan. Each member pays $5 a week, and as fast as houses are built, lots are drawn to see who shall be the possessors.

One of the famous divorce lawyers of New York, in his advertisement in the city papers, says: "Hymeneal incompatibilities as a specialty delicately adjusted. 'Tis slavery to detain the hand after the heart hath fled."

A New Hampshire paper says that immediately after the passage of the Salary bill, Senator Cragin declined to accept the back pay. Probably he will now turn it over formally into the Treasury, in view of the recent decision.

A young Texas man, who was kept on jury duty 48 hours, complains that he got seven letters from his wife inquiring why he stayed away so long, and that he had a very affecting interview with his mother-in-law as soon as he was released.

Mr. H. W. Parsons, Justice of the Peace in Chautauqua county, has exacted a fine of $1 each from two boys and two girls, who pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking the Sabbath by riding upon Findley's Lake, on the 8th of June, for pleasure.

The Boston schoolmaster is off on his vacation, and the following notice is being put in a conspicuous position on all unsafe buildings: "This building will be dangerous in case of fire. Placed here by order of David Chamberlain, Inspector of buildings."

A little girl three years old, in Erie County, Pennsylvania, is said to produce correctly upon a melodeon any tune she hears played once, although she has never received any instruction. It requires too much of an effort to believe such a story in this warm weather.

The will of a Kentuckian, made before his marriage and giving all his property to the lady who became his wife, has been successfully contested by his legal heirs, it being held that the marriage operated as a revocation and that the widow is entitled to only one-third.

The local editor of a Wilmington, North Carolina, paper went away and his substitute almost went mad trying to hunt up news. He was happy at last when this suggested itself to him: "Just nineteen hundred and seventeen years ago to-day, since Brutus gave his friend, Julius Cæsar, a poke under the fifth rib."

A boy put a false head into a flour barrel, procured four quarts of peanuts and poured them over the head so as to make one think he had a barrelful, and then took his station on the street and cried out, "All these peanuts for $1 50." A grocer passing gave him the money, and the boy had business elsewhere at once.

The wife of a Methodist minister in Tennessee has been seriously ill for some time, but, says a Southern paper in announcing the fact, "hopes are entertained that she will recover." And then it adds: "Let him (the husband) have the sympathy and prayers of his brethren in this hour of affliction and discouragement."

Daniel Webster is not the only bright boy born in New Hampshire. The Boston Globe has heard of another—a youth residing in Dover, who refused to take a pill. His crafty mother thereupon secretly placed the pill in a preserved pear, and gave it to him. Presently she asked, "Tom, have you eaten the pear?" He said, "Yes, mother, all but the seed."

The funniest strike of all is that of the beggars of Treves, Prussia. They have been in the habit of getting a dole for praying on a fixed day for the prosperity of the town, and, with the rise in the prices of provision, they rose in price, demanding double their former remuneration; and, as the salvation of the city couldn't be compromised, the authorities acceded to their demand.

A boy in West Utica, a few nights since, awoke at once to the knowledge of a dismal optic and the fact that he is a somnambulist. He had been in the water swimming nearly all the hot afternoon, and in his dreams still divided the sportive wave. Then he dreamed he wanted to dive, and so he dived. When the house got through rocking he found himself standing on his eyebrow.

Senator Chandler, of Michigan, is taking into the newspaper offices in Detroit specimen bundles of the grass he raises on his farm near Lansing. The grass measures six feet two inches in length. He says that it is a species of meadow grass grown extensively in Holland, and on the reclaimed bogs of Ireland, and that it is the sweetest and tallest cultivated fodder grass in the world.

A young fellow who was recently committed to jail in Portland, Maine, for an assault, sent a pathetic appeal to the Judge, in which he said: "I have only been married to months & I hante had My Honey Moon yet. this is the first time I ever was in jail or errested. If you will Consider my case & let me of on a fine I will return to My Darling Wife." The stern decrees of justice were carried out nevertheless.

I a recent letter, Congressman H. E. Havens, of Missouri, says that, having opposed the Salary bill because he was opposed generally to any increase of compensation, and not because he thought it was corrupt or villainous, he received pay under the law, fully satisfied that no constituent of his desired that he should make any desperate effort for bucombe, or that he should be paid otherwise than as his associates were paid. And now did he write this letter for buncombe?

North Carolina paper: "A hound was chasing a fox, near Laurel Hill, a few days since, when the latter, being tightly pressed, took refuge in a hollow log, entrance into which it effected at a knot hole. The dog coming up, and finding that the fox had gotten into the log, thrust his head into the knot hole after the fox, and got his head fast therein. Being unable to extricate himself, the dog died, and the fox, being cut off from the only avenue of escape from the log, likewise perished, both of them, evidently, having died from starvation."

Everybody knows that revenge is sweet, for everybody has often enough heard the proverb, but to understand the length, breadth and height of the dulcet enjoyment, we must reflect upon a bridal incident in Omaha. A pretty girl there had jilted a fond lover. So, while the parson was joining her to the fortunate rival, what does the discarded do but sneak into the back parlor. There the bridal presents were arrayed and arranged in all their grandeur and gorgeousness, and then and there the disowned smashed them! Then he cried "ha! ha!" and was, we suppose, cheerfully locked up for malicious mischief.

At a school festival in Boston, Wednesday, Mr. Ralph Waldo Emerson said that the advantages afforded to the scholar in that city are not surpassed by those in any other city in the world. In the same connection, he expressed the hope that the school children read the right books. There are, he thought, too many story books, too many newspapers, and he was a little afraid that people did not read quite as good books as their fathers read. They should read, he said, Scott, Plutarch, Miss Edgeworth's stories, the story of Sir Philip Sidney, the hero of Europe. He hoped they would read and accept such other influences as would fit them to be the men and women that society needed, and that they should become such members of society without any necessary change of principles.

THE TERRITORIES.

It snowed at Hugo, Colorado, on the 8th instant.

Old John Robinson's circus is at Denver coming Pacific Coastward.

William H. Hudson, an old and respected citizen of Idaho, died at Lewiston on the 11th inst.

Salt Lake is the best mortgaged city in the West. It would puzzle Sampson to lift one half of them.

William Shepherd, a well known miner at Oro Fino, I. T., was killed by a falling tree while working on his claim, on the 2d inst.

The printing office of the New Endowment, now at Salt Lake City, will soon be removed to Pioche, Nevada. So says the Salt Lake Tribune.

At the recent public examination of St. Ann's school for girls, at Victoria, B. C., the Seattle girls stood above the average, and all received complimentary notices.

There is some talk by citizens of Lewiston, I. T., of bringing the Clearwater creek into the town by a ditch, for purposes of irrigation and manufactures. The cost is estimated at $5,000.

The Indians stole a cask of whisky from Mr. Noyes at Lewiston, last week, and had a grand feast. The Marshal caught the Indians, but recovered but a small portion of the whisky.

The Courier of Thursday is informed that a serious accident occurred on the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad, near Tenino, by the falling of a part of a trestle bridge. Four men were seriously injured by the falling timbers.

A siwash who, with his tillicums, had been enjoying a goodly share of spiritual patriotism on the Fourth, at Coupeville, was carved somewhat on the morning of the 5th by an admiring brother. The fellow was pretty badly cut up.

At Denver in June there were seven days in which rain fell—altogether twenty and three-quarter hours. The quantity of water was two inches and twenty-nine hundredths of an inch. There were fourteen consecutive days without rain, with unusual heat and consequent great drouth.

The terminus question is absorbing the entire attention of Puget Sound papers. We can detect a good deal of ill humor if not envy in some of their flings at Tacoma. The editor's column and the reporter's columns too are filled with discussions on the subject. The advertisers mention it, and every line breathes terminus. How long, oh Lord?

From a letter received in Seattle from the Rev. J. P. Ludlow, who left that place in February last as a passenger on board the ship Wildwood, we learn that this famous vessel—now commanded by Captain James Frost—arrived in Melbourne, Australia, from Burrard Inlet, April 13th, having made the run from Cape Flattery to Melbourne in 40 days and 16 hours, which is said to be the quickest time on record.

The Port Townsend Argus says: "The leak which caused the return of the ship Canada was found to be in her top seams. Some sixteen caulkers are now at work on her, and it is expected she will be ready for sea in about five or six days. The crew of the Canada, which is in prison now, refused to work the pumps after the vessel was at the wharf. It was for this, and not for refusing to discharge the deck load, that they were arrested.

In Hatt's slough, near Seattle, on the evening of the 5th of July, the infant son of Richmond Carrier was drowned. While the guardians of the child were walking in the garden, the child, unobserved by them, had strayed to the edge of the bank, and, in reaching down for a piece of calico, lost his balance and fell into the water. He was missed, and search made for him, when he was discovered floating on his face, with his head under water. He was immediately taken out and every effort made to restore him, but without avail.

A dispatch dated at Port Steele, Wyoming, July 1st, says: "The reports of the Indian troubles are conflicting. Information from Rawlins charges the Indians with stealing stock and shooting a teamster in the foot. According to all other reports they were attacked by nine men from Rawlins, only to retake fast horses and money lost in races near the Seminole mines. The number and names of the killed and wounded is unknown. No white men hurt. The ponies were captured from the Utes, and were brought back to Rawlins. I send there a detachment of infantry to-morrow morning."

A correspondent of the Advocate writing from White River valley, W. T., says: "White River valley is about 40 miles long and about three miles wide. The land is very fertile, which yields from year to year, an abundant harvest. Indeed the crops never fail in this part of the country, and never did they look better than now. Mr. Alvord, who resides in this neighborhood has 1,000 acres of good land in a body situated directly off this river, some 200 of which is in cultivation, 90 acres in grass, which will yield about two and a half tons per acre; or over 200 tons, and the farm will yield about $4,000 this year."

The following from the Denver News of the 9th is about as good as Oregon can do in the wool business: "Sheep shearing on the ranch of Col. Sweet, near Denver, has just been finished, and their ewes have nearly all dropped their lambs. There are 420 Merino bucks of the best families, 360 ewes, 600 grade ewes, 500 fat wethers, and about 4,500 common sheep. Some of the bucks have sheared 25½ pounds—average of buck fleeces, 16 pounds. Yearling bucks have yielded 22 lbs. The pure blooded ewes averaged 11 pounds, grade ewes 9 pounds, and the general average of the common sheep is estimated at 4½ pounds."

The United States District Court for the Second Judicial District of Washington Territory for Pacific county met at Oysterville on Monday, July 14th, Judge Green presiding. The Grand Jury was impaneled the same day, and after having retired for deliberation, returned into Court and reported no causes for consideration, whereupon they were discharged. Judgment was rendered in the case of Stevens vs. Elliott for $381, and also a decree of foreclosure of a mortgage against the Columbia River Manufacturing Company, for the sum of $24,000, in favor of the California Trust Company.

Another report from Rawlins, Wyoming Territory, says: "The best information which can be obtained in relation to the recent Indian difficulty at Rawlins, develops the fact that a dozen reckless men from Rawlins went out and attacked a gang of Utes, without any cause or provocation, and killed six or seven and wounded as many more, and captured several of their horses and other property. The Utes had committed no depredations, and had been perfectly peaceable. It is believed to have been a cold-blooded, inhuman outrage by the whites, for which they should be promptly punished, and the Indians satisfactorily compensated by the Government and the authorities."

The Port Townsend Argus says: "Among the passengers by the Norway are sixteen ship carpenters, who came up to work on the new vessel to be built at Utsalady, and Captain Sivert Johnson, master and owner of the schooner Norway, of San Francisco. The model for the new vessel was made by Captain Johnson, and her construction will be under the superintendency of Mr. George Bell, the builder of several fine clippers at Boston. The vessel is to be a bark, 170 feet over all, breadth of beam 38 feet, and 13½ feet depth of hold, and will measure somewhere in the neighborhood of six hundred tons. It is the intention of the builders to have the vessel ready for launching by the first of December."

OREGON.

The Supreme Court will convene at Salem, pursuant to adjournment, next Monday.

Yamhill's proportion of the irreducible school fund is $2,200 coin, and $565 in legal tenders.

The upper Willamette is getting down to an uncomfortably low stage for purposes of navigation.

The free bridge now in course of construction at Dayton, over the Yamhill river, is progressing finely.

Blocks in the town of Lincoln, Tillamook county, are selling at $35 to $150 apiece. Somebody must expect a terminus there.

The annual exhibit of finances for the year ending July 11, 1873, shows a balance of $1,643 14 in the hands of the Treasurer of Clatsop county.

A letter from North Yamhill, dated July 17th, says, Mrs. A. J. Duniway lectured at this point last evening to a large and appreciative audience. She was frequently interrupted by the plaudits of her hearers.

Colonel White, of Oregon City, suggests to his fellow members of the Democratic State Central Committee that they meet in Portland on the 9th of August to make arrangements for the Congressional election.

Harvesting commenced in Yamhill county on July the 10th. William Hall, writing to the Advocate, reports the crops in that county far ahead of any before. It is reported that the crop is confined almost entirely to wheat, oats and timothy.

A basket meeting will be held at Clear Creek camp ground, near Clear Creek, Clackamas county, commencing Saturday, July 19th, and continuing over the Sabbath. The same kind of a meeting will be held at the Rock Creek Church, Rock Creek Circuit, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 2d and 3d.

Messrs. Jones & Crawford last week disposed of their sawmill on Panther creek, Yamhill county, to two men named Bingham and Baddely, lately from Missouri. The price paid was $6,000, payable in lumber—a pretty fair bargain on which to sell a sawmill, and an admirable way to pay for one. There are three men just from the States engaged in running the mills.

During the late storm a great many of the farmers in Yamhill county who had mowed down their meadows looked rather "down in the mouth," anticipating a continuation of the rain until their hay should be spoiled. So far as we have heard from, there is no damage as yet, and with the sunshine which we now have promise of, it is very likely the hay crop will be all saved.

The Yamhill Reporter has the following in regard to crops in that county, which is doubtless true of all Oregon: "We have talked with many of our farmers during the past week concerning their fields of grain, which are fast turning to the golden hue, and will soon be ready for the sickles and threshing machine. All agree on the prospect for an unusual yield. Some of them say their fields have been badly lodged by the late storms, while others the majority say they have none that is down, but that it all stands up straight and even. During the storm it was feared that winds might raise which would undoubtedly have played sad havoc in every field. But as fair weather is now indicated, we have no reason to fear but that the harvest may now proceed undisturbed by storms and the grain be harvested in good shape. We learn of one field of oats that have been cut down in this vicinity, but it will be two weeks yet before the work will commence in earnest.

The McMinnville Reporter says: "A party, consisting of Messrs. James Hembree, R. W. Phillips and Levi Bennett, who have been attending the Circuit Court of Tillamook county as witnesses, passed through this place en route for home yesterday afternoon. The trip is a pleasant one over the mountains, now that the new wagon road is done. The gentlemen say they never saw a better mountain road than this. Wagons and carriages traverse it, and get along speedily and pleasantly. The trial of Wilson resulted in his being convicted of an assault with intent to kill. Two bills were found against Squires by the grand jury—one an attempt to murder, and the other larceny. There were several blocks of land sold in the town of Lincoln recently at auction. They sold at from $30 to $152 a block. They are all temperance folks over at Tillamook. It is said there hasn't been a drop of whisky drank there since court began. Cause why?—because the schooner didn't get in, and everybody was 'just out.'"

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The Colonist says fires are raging in the woods near Victoria.

From a single tree in New Westminster 550 pounds of cherries were gathered the other day—worth over $50.

The total shipments of treasure by the Prince Alfred from Victoria for San Francisco on the 10th inst. were $29,547 18.

A large number of horses, admitted by the removal of the epizootic embargo, are arriving at Victoria from Puget Sound.

While they of Victoria are crying aloud for water, Cariboo is blessed with a reduction in the price of spirits to 12½ cts. per glass.

A private dispatch from Barkerville on the 8th inst., mentions that Mr. S. Howells was killed on that day by falling down the shaft of the Calaveras Company.

Messrs. Boyd and Cormac, from Kamloops, lodged Nathan Weisner, an escaped convict, and two horse thieves in prison at New Westminster on Friday the 10th inst.

The U. S. Steamer Saranac, flagship of Rear Admiral Pennock, came into Esquimalt at 7:30 o'clock on the evening of the 12th. Salutes were exchanged with H. M. S. Tenedos.

There is a postal grievance at Burrard Inlet. No arrangement having been made for conveyance of mail matter across the inlet, the ferryman charges what he pleases. He is charging a bit a letter at present.

A letter received from Germansen creek, dated June 21st, says: "Times are very dull, very few miners on the creek, and no one making anything. Payne and Big Reed are working the ground below us. They have sluiced off a large piece of bedrock, and have not got the color on it. We are running a cut to prospect our ground. We got small pay on the upper part of what we sluiced last fall. Unless we get pay soon we shan't work long. We have not got a speck this fall. Jim May and party, who have been out prospecting all winter, have not got in yet. G. F."

JEFF. DAVIS' MARRIAGE.—Jefferson Davis was in St. Louis a few days ago, and being interviewed by a reporter of the Republican, alluded to the published reports that he eloped with the daughter of Gen. Taylor, in opposition to the wishes of that General. The reporter says that Davis laughed heartily, and said the account which had got into the newspapers was a fiction. That he had an affection for the daughter of General Taylor was true, that she manifested a preference for him was true, and that General Taylor was somewhat unfriendly was also true, but he did not oppose the match. On the contrary, they were married in a church at Louisville, Ky., and Mr. Hancock Taylor, a brother of the General, procured the license for the marriage. This little fiction having been thus punctured, the same querist inquired if there was any truth in the statement current at the time, that at the battle of Buena Vista Gen. Taylor rode up to Mr. Davis and congratulated him on his gallantry, adding, that he must acknowledge that his daughter was a better judge of character than he was. Mr. Davis smiled and said this was a fiction also.

The Order seems to be growing most rapidly in the State of Iowa, which has now 750 granges, and in Missouri, Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota, Nebraska and Wisconsin.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17.—The great baby show which opened to-day at Pacific Hall, promises to be a success. About fifty fond mothers put in an appearance with their assorted angels before 11 o'clock this morning, and the number is constantly increasing. Thus far, however, the selection of infants is not remarkable. All are gotten up regardless of expense. The dressing room, where the youngsters get the final touches of dress and ornament, is an interesting place. The mothers generally look envious. Some of the children are inclined to be combative. The Hall is handsomely decorated. A band of music is in attendance. On Saturday, prizes for the loudest criers and sweetest smilers will be awarded. Those babies who can cry and won't, will be pinched and pricked with pins by their mothers or nurses till they scream, which Modoc performance, it is expected, will bring down the house. That part of the show might well be dispensed with. There are already babies with bandy legs and scald heads on exhibition. What prizes are offered have not been announced. San Francisco turns out some magnificent babies, but not many of them have got into the show yet. Dealers in baby wear, cradles, sucking bottles, wearing apparel, dolls, toys, etc., take advantage of the occasion to exhibit samples of their goods. When all the infants are brought in, they will be arranged into classes for the convenience of the Judges who must award prizes. The show continues three days.

Immediate assistance was rendered, but he was dead before he was taken on shore. The body was sent to Philadelphia on the afternoon train. Rumors that he was drowned are without foundation. Portland, July 14, 1873.

Another New Party Scheme.

It appears, if we are to believe the dispatches, that the various trades unions and guilds in the United States are contemplating the formation of a new political party, or rather, that they have been contemplating such action, and have finally resolved to undertake its accomplishment. The President of the National Industrial Congress, a representative body claiming to be composed of delegates from the various local trade organizations throughout the country, stated definitely at the opening of the session a few days since that one of the objects of the present meeting of the general body was the formation of a new political party.

Of course this congress does not represent all the guilds and societies of the kind mentioned that exist in the United States. How many it does represent we have no special information. It is easy for the assembly to pass resolutions declaring itself to represent all the people in the country having interests similar to those of its members. In fact, that is just what such bodies are accustomed to do, whether the whole or a thousandth part of such people actually have representatives present. A half dozen politicians get together, in pursuance of a public notice given by some unauthorized individual, and pass resolutions declarative of the sense of the "Republican party," or the "Democratic party," as the case may be, upon the gravest question. A baker's dozen of trades people, who do most of their labor with the unruly member, will organize themselves into a club and issue a statement of their peculiar views or purposes on some subject, as an expression of the unanimous sentiment of the working men of the city or State. Or a handful of active and patriotic citizens, of any and all classes, will meet on a day's notice, and proclaim the sentiments entertained by "this entire community, in mass meeting assembled." These things are of almost daily occurrence, and though they are deemed of so little importance in the immediate vicinity of the performance, that no one pays much attention to them, they may create quite an impression abroad, where people possess no information in regard to the real facts except that imparted by the published reports of these exaggerated proceedings.

To what extent this industrial convention is one of these bodies whose importance lies chiefly in the magnificence of its pretensions and the comprehensive language of its proceedings, we are unable to state. Certain it is, that its proposition to form a new political party, which is, in some way, to confer peculiar [illegible] of people commonly spoken of as "working men"—all the people who live by the work of their hands—is a proposition which in some form has come to the surface at short intervals and in various ways ever since the close of the war. Working men's candidates for local offices, have been common, and a working-man's candidate for President of the United States came into the world just before the last election—came still-born, it is true, but came nevertheless.

These facts evidence that the working people are, or think they are, denied some valuable right by the existing political parties. The working man of America, the mechanics and laboring people, are not disposed to become fomenters of strife without cause. They are not brawlers. When they manifest a disposition to overturn the existing order of things, it is because they honestly believe themselves oppressed.

But the time has not yet come when they can form a political party and carry it into power. If that time ever comes, it will be when the density of our population bringing, as increasing population always does bring, a still greater proportion of trades people to the whole population, shall cut off, to a great extent, the resources which each individual working man now has against the oppressions of capital. Until that time, there will be too many other questions prominent, and too many different minds among the working men themselves to allow such a party to succeed. The thing for these trades-folk to do now, if they would serve themselves and their country, is to insist on greater economy and purity in the administration of the Government by the parties already in existence; to urge the recognition of the right of themselves, in common with all other American citizens, to have the laws honestly and faithfully executed; to demand that virtue, and not vice, shall be held as a qualification for official position; to stand upon their dignity as members of a community in which personal character is the only passport to social position, and upon their individual manhood, and exert their influence and their votes for honesty and against dishonesty, for good men and against bad men, without stopping to ask whether or not the candidate believes Jackson was right in suppressing the United States Bank, McClellan in changing his base on the Potomac, or Andy Johnson in swinging round the circle; in short, to do just as the Iowa Republican State Convention declares all Americans ought to do: consider the party as an instrument to be used for putting the control of public affairs into the hands of good and true men, and never, under any circumstances, to be used to put bad men into office.

The Government at Washington seems to be in a peck of trouble over Carl Vogt. Vogt has been a candidate for the impressive ceremony of extradition for several months, and our dispatches have transported him a dozen times. We are informed this morning, however, that he will soon be released from custody. Vogt is charged with the murder of Chevalier de Bianco, at Brussels, about a year ago, and with the burning of the chateau of the murdered man to conceal the crime.

The New York Herald vouches for this reminiscence of ancient politics: "Patrick Henry once called Governor Giles, of Virginia, a 'bob-tailed politician.' Giles demanded an explanation. Henry responded: 'I do not recollect having called you a 'bob-tailed politician' at any time, but think it probable I have. Not recollecting the time or occasion, I cannot say what I did mean, but if you will tell me what you think I meant, I will say whether you are correct or not.' Giles subsided."

"J. G." Again, Without the "P."

The Bulletin grows furious at our gentle allusion to the letter of J. G. puffing Mr. Holladay. Nobody is surprised at this, it is expected that paper will get excited at anything that does not suit Mr. Holladay. That is what he keeps it for. We really intended, however, to touch J. G.'s effort very tenderly, and thought we had done so. But our neighbor thinks that we are cynical, and expresses the opinion that a person who will refuse to lick Mr. Holladay's feet will "bolt" some day or other if he gets a good chance. We confess our inability to perceive what logical connection exists between J. G.'s adulation of his master, and the general doctrine of bolting. J. G. himself has never been recognized as a very ardent opposer of "bolting," and has declared within less than a week that he will not support the Republican candidate for Congress, except upon certain conditions specified by him. We must do him the justice to say that his conditions are such as arise out of what are, in our judgment, sound sentiments, and we can fully indorse them, except so far as making them conditions precedent to our support of the Republican candidate; and we only refer to the matter to show what sort of a party man J. G. is. He probably takes his ideas of party allegiance from the Bulletin, which openly justified the action of the two committeemen who bolted because they could not control the other seven, in the late city election; but we are glad to be able to add, to the credit of J. G., that he does not get his ideas of political honesty and the personal qualifications for office-holding from the same source. If he did he would be far from making his party fealty conditional upon moral considerations.

As to his letter being simply a puff of Holladay and a series of misrepresentations of other people, the document on its face shows it to be the one, and we are prepared to prove that it is the other—whether so intended or not—if J. G. sees fit to "shape himself" for it.

Now we have no objection to J. G.'s writing puffatory letters about the man whom he has chosen as his beau ideal of a great and good man, nor to the Bulletin's publishing such essays. Indeed, it is, we presume, a pleasant exercise to all parties concerned, and financially profitable to all but the puffee; and we like to see them enjoying themselves. Nor do we see very clearly how we could help ourselves if didn't like it. So long as the "old man" owns a hand organ and a man to turn the crank, and likes hand organ music, we suppose he will be happy whether we like it or not. But this happy man must excuse us from taking any part in the hand organ concert. We never do it. When it comes to genuine music—a full chorus for the great Republican party, with just as little of the organ accompaniment as will suffice to keep the voices together, count us in. And we hope howsoever faintly, still we hope yet to see J. G., and perhaps the White Elephant, and possibly even the "old man," himself, realize the shabby spectacle this band-organ business presents to those who are not inclined to participate in it, and abandon it for some legitimate occupation.

The Church of Rome has persistently waged war against secret societies, such as the Masonic order, but it seems somewhat of a stretch to include labor organizations in its prohibitions. There is nothing occult in the management of a Printers' Union. And yet the Bishop of Montreal lately refused to allow a deceased Catholic printer burial in consecrated ground. His membership in the Union was his only offense. The decision created a good deal of excitement, and the prelate finally consented to allow the interment to take place in that part of the cemetery allotted to unbaptized infants. The Cincinnati Gazette is responsible for the facts.

Le Siecle is intensely dissatisfied with the new order of things in France. The Republic has brought something besides a dangerous tranquility, it thinks. Here is a specimen of its strong language: "At the revolution of July, 1830, thieves were shot. In February, 1848, they were threatened to be shot. In September, 1870, thieves were armed and admitted to the National Guard. In March, 1871, thieves received epaulets and feathers, and were made majors, colonels and generals. They shot gendarmes, priests, judges and honest folks. This is progress!"

The new-fashioned degrees which the smaller institutions are in the habit of conferring so lavishly, have so exasperated the Worcester (Mass.) Spy, that it suggests as an appropriate sequence to the "M. E. L." (Mistress of English Literature), conferred by a Ladies' Seminary in New Jersey, the degree "M. P. A."—Master of Primary Arithmetic—for the lowest grade of schools.

The Boston Advertiser says the manufacturers of nails in New England have unanimously agreed to stop their works during the greater part of the months of July and August. The reason alleged is that heavy stocks of nails have accumulated, and the market price has thereby been crowded down below the manufacturing cost.

The New York Herald in commenting on the fate of the young couple who "went down to death into the awful abyss of the Horseshoe Fall, Niagara," says.

These unfortunate people, ignorant of their danger, went out on the river from Chippewa for the enjoyment of a sail, and were drawn by the smooth, but treacherous and powerful current into the rapids before they fully comprehended their terrible situation. And hardly a summer passes away at Niagara without some such terrible misfortune. Surely the inhabitants on both sides of the river should know enough from these oft repeated disasters, not only to avoid on their own part the danger but to prevent strangers from committing themselves to the deceitful stream, which in a moment may have them within their grasp, beyond all hope of human deliverance.

The Goodrich Murder

A New York dispatch of the 12th inst. furnishes the following.

The Brooklyn Eagle, says regarding the appearance of the prisoner:

"It took but a few moments to create among the bystanders the impression that they were looking upon an insane woman, and the woman is undoubtedly insane, if ordinary indications of lunacy are to be relied on. She sat there for full half an hour, smiling and chatting pleasantly, a strange, wild light beaming from her eyes all the while. It was impossible to converse with her, although she talked sensibly, without being almost absolutely convinced of her insanity. Miss Handly, in an interview with a a reporter, stated that the prisoner was six years ago a lunatic and an inmate of a lunatic asylum, and that her insanity was caused by disappointment in love"

The Eagle also says: "When the Chief of Police asked the prisoner to hand him the locket, which is a very large one, she was at first loth to comply, but seeing that resistance was useless she passed it over. On receiving it, the Chief took hold of it to open it. 'Oh, be careful!' said she. 'there is some mineral in that which I don't want to lose.' Despite the utmost care, a little portion of the 'mineral' escaped and fell on the floor, when she picked it up promptly, put it in her mouth and swallowed it. 'What did you do that for?' said the Chief, looking steadily into her eyes. She said, 'That is Charles Goodrich's blood.' And sure enough, upon close examination, the locket was found to be filled with congealed blood. A few questions elicited the fact that on leaving Goodrich's house on that Friday morning, she had taken away with her, among other articles, a cup full of blood which had oozed from his brain. This blood had congealed, and she had been eating a little of it every day since the tragedy up to the time of her capture."

The Vienna Exposition.

Vienna correspondents continue to write disparagingly of the American display at the Exposition, as regards space occupied in the Industrial Palace. In the Machinery Hall and Agricultural Hall, the American exhibitors are pre-eminent; but Americans will be judged by their display in the Palace, as visitors there are ten times the number of those finding their way to the former buildings. One writer describes the American gallery in the Industrial Palace as suggestive of our Western States—a great expanse of territory with very little in it. Among the works of art spoken of as creditable to Americans, are a collection of stereoscopic views of Niagara, and California scenery, by Bierstadt. Three San Francisco artists exhibit photographs of Yosemite Valley scenery and of the Mariposa Big Trees. Apart from the striking character of the scenery in these latter pictures, the excellency of workmanship gains them universal admiration, and they are not equaled by any other landscape photographs on exhibition. In the group of mining and metallurgy there are thirty-six exhibitors. The American display is good, compared with that of other nations; but not half as good as it should be. The silver and gold ores of Utah, Nevada and California are fairly represented in a collection furnished by an amateur collector, W. Costie, of San Francisco. California wines are also creditably represented. On the whole, however, America is most conspicuous in the absence of her best productions.

THE NEW ORLEANS DUEL.—R. B. Rhett, the young fire-eater who killed Judge Cooley in a shotgun duel near New Orleans, is a fair specimen of the class of Southerners who usually fight duels. He is not over thirty years of age, small, red-headed, conceited, and a full blooded rebel. He figures in the dispatches as "editor of the Picayune," although he only holds a subordinate and entirely unimportant position in the office of that paper. Judge Cooley, the murdered man, was an able and influential citizen, whose death at the hands of a man not fit morally or mentally to associate with him, is another very pertinent illustration of the preposterous injustice of a code that makes a victim of an honorable man who, being insulted by a loafer with no other accomplishment than a skill in the use of firearms, feels obliged to fight. It is the old story over again. Cooley was a gentleman who had some better work to do in life than practice gunnery. Rhett is a loafer who thinks it the noblest aim in life to be able to shoot well. The dueling code made the two men equals in all but skill in marksmanship, and as a natural result the better man of the two was killed. Mr. Rhett is indebted for the creditable way in which his case is stated in the dispatches, to the fact that the Associated Press agent at New Orleans is a low, worthless fellow who loafs about the Picayune office and moulds his dispatches according to the sentiments of that paper. His telegrams concerning the Kellogg government and all political questions in Louisiana during the past year, have been grossly partisan and unfair. It would seem that in an important city like New Orleans, the distributing point for all Southwestern news, the Association would employ a competent, reliable agent. A new arrangement in this respect is due to the people of Louisiana and to all interested in the vicissitudes of that State.

THE OCTOPUS AND THE ACTOR.—The following curious occurrence is said to have taken place at Brighton, England. The performance of "Man and Wife" at the Theatre Royale was delayed some little time on Tuesday night, in consequence of it having been discovered that Mr. Charles Collette, who was playing the part of Sir Patrick Lundie, was not in the theatre. Before, however, an apology was made, Mr. Collette arrived, wet to the skin, and in a state of great exhaustion, he dressed hurriedly and appeared on the stage, exhibiting no traces of the ordeal he had gone through. It appears that Mr. Collette had learned the art of snake-charming in India, and was explaining the process to Mr. George Reeves Smith, the courteous general manager of the Brighton Aquarium. Notwithstanding the entreaties of Mr. Smith, Mr. Collette persisted in exercising his science upon the Octopus, and succeeded in luring the monster from its hiding place, and caused it to follow him round the tank. On bending down to the surface of the water, however, the creature seemed to shake off all control, and turning its snaky feelers round Mr. Collette's neck drew him by main force into the tank. A desperate struggle ensued beneath the water, whence Sir Patrick Lundie was with difficulty extricated by Mr. Smith and several bystanders. Mr. Collette has since confined his powers of charming to the patrons of the theater, and with far greater success. We believe Mr. Smith, of the Brighton Aquarium, will vouch for the truth of this.

BUNGLING EXECUTIONS.—While capital punishment has the sanction of our laws, the infliction of torture has not. If men must be hanged, the execution of the penalty should be entrusted to experts. At all events, no such cruel bungling as occured at Paris, Ky., on Friday, should be allowed. As our dispatches have mentioned, the rope was too long, so that in falling through the drop the feet of the culprit, Duncan, touched the ground. The rope was cut and tied again, after the criminal had descended the scaffold. This time the executioner succeeded in putting an end to the victim's life, but only by the slow process of strangulation. Just before the second attempt was made a glass of ice water was placed to the victim's lips. It may be thought morbid humanity to narcotize a man before hanging him, but it looks something like an approach to the opposite extreme to revive his sensibility by giving him a cooling drink a minute or two before he was put to death. Justice should be vindicated, but this can be done without needless barbarity.

PRESCRIPTIONS FOR CHOLERA.—The following prescription was adopted by the College of Physicians in Philadelphia in 1866

"Laudanum 2 ounces; spirits of camphor, 2 ounces, tincture of capsicum, ½ ounce; tincture of ginger, 1 ounce, essence of peppermint, 2 ounces, Hoffman's anodyne, 2 ounces. If the anodyne cannot be readily obtained, substitute sulphuric ether—half the quantity. Mix thoroughly and shake well every time it is used. Give or take from 20 to 25 drops, according to age, condition and violence of attack. Repeat every 20 minutes till relief is obtained. In a desperate case take a teaspoonful at once. Take it in an equal quantity of water, and lie on the back quietly, or in an easy sitting posture, with the back supported, till it has full opportunity to work. Carry a small vial in the pocket, with a few lumps of white sugar upon which to drop it, to be used in sudden emergencies."

The Commissioner of the General Land Office has decided that citrate of alumina, commonly known as fire-clay, may be patented under the mining Act of May 10, 1873.

The Chicago Times of July 9th says: "The New Northwest, published by a woman, Mrs. Duniway, in Portland, Oregon, comes to the defense of Senator Mitchell Hipple, and holds him blameless."

Leonard G. McDonald, Walter McDonald, and Charles Thompson, executors of William McDonald, deceased, have commenced an action against Robert M. Douglas and Stephen A. Douglas, and Adele Williams for $15,000 debt and $15,000 damages.

It is now stated that the killing of Deputy United States Marshal Stevenson, in Jersey City, was a deliberately planned murder, and the inquest will develop the fact. The murderer, Le Enthal, was not a Russian sailor, but a boarding house keeper, who had been concealing sailor deserters

Four members of the Methodist Episcopal Mission in China have united in sending a letter to Minister F. F. Low upon the occasion of his leaving Pekin, expressive of their obligations to him in many ways, and especially for his prompt and successful vindication of their right to hold chapel premises lawfully purchased by them in Pekin, in the face of the determined hostility of many influential mandarins.

A Virginian who had been plucked in a gambling den in Baltimore brought suit against the supposed proprietor of the place for the amount lost, and obtained judgment by default. But when the Sheriff was about to make a levy upon the furniture it was ascertained that everything in the establishment was owned by a member of the detective police corps, who holds the same by bill of sale put on record two years ago.

Clear Creek county, Colorado, has a half mile race course which it claims to be the highest track in the world. It is on top of one of the highest and most desolate mountains of that region, and it is asserted that its altitude is not less than 10,000 feet above the level of the sea. Some races took place there on the afternoon of the 26th ult., and the attendance was quite large, including people from all the neighboring mining localities.

European mail advices report the crop prospects much more favorable than of late throughout the continent. There has been a great improvement in the wheat crop in France, particularly, and decided amendment has been observable in the position of affairs. In Germany also the prospects are much more brilliant. From the Danube to Bessarabia and the whole of Southern Russia, the crops are extremely promising, and an abundant yield of all kinds of grain is confidently relied upon.

Pending the decision by Judge Blatchford on the question of remanding Charles A. Dana for trial before the District Court of the District of Columbia on the charge of libeling residents of that District, the case is eliciting much newspaper discussion. Papers unfriendly to Dana personally take ground that his removal to another jurisdiction for trial for an alleged offense committed within the State of New York, would be an unwarrantable assumption on the part of the Federal Courts, and an utter disregard of State authority. Judge Blatchford's decision was expected on Wednesday last.

The very worst case of delirium tremens on record is one told of by the Bonham (Texas) Enterprise, which says that a few days ago a man residing five or six miles from that place "saw something resembling an enormous serpent floating in a cloud that was passing over his farm. Several parties of men and boys, at work in the fields, observed the same thing, and were seriously frightened. It seemed to be as large and long as a telegraph pole, was of a yellow striped color, and seemed to float along without any effort. They could see it coil itself up, turn over, and thrust forward its huge head as if striking at something."

An anecdote is thus told of M. Ranc, the Deputy whose prosecution for sympathy with the Commune has been revived by the French Government after two years. In 1853 he was examined in the case of a clerk who was charged with having designed to shoot the Emperor. The Judge said, "M. Ranc, from what I see in these papers, you endeavored to dissuade the prisoner from assassination." M. Ranc looked relieved, and replied that he had done so. "But how?" continued the Judge. "The prisoner tells us that you said, 'You are short-sighted, and will miss him.'" M. Ranc's head drooped, and his manner admitted that only in the novel way mentioned he had tried to discourage the intending assassin.

A dispatch from Khiva gives the following account of events subsequent to the capture of the city: The Khan voluntarily entered the Russian camp and gave in his submission, formally declaring himself a vassal of Russia. Gen. Kaufmann then restored him to the throne and appointed a council of administration to assist him in the Government, during the occupation of the Khanate by Russian forces. The Khan, in token of gratitude, issued on the 24th of June a decree forever abolishing slavery within his dominions. General Kaufmann has sent dispatches to Teheran notifying the Persian Government to make preparations for the receipt of 10,000 natives of Persia released from slavery by the Khan's decree.

A New York letter says: "Few persons are aware, I suspect, that Miss Hildreth, who was leading lady at the National Theater during Mr. Foster's management, was married soon after her engagement there to Benjamin F. Butler, now the renowned General Butler. Mrs. Butler is the mother of the wife of General Ames, of Miss., who, as Blanche Butler, gained so wide a reputation as a Washington belle during her maidenhood. It is said that General Butler displayed his characteristic diligence and determination in his wooing; that he resolved that Miss Hildreth, then, as now, a most amiable and accomplished lady, should be his wife; and he went from Boston to Cincinnati to induce her to discontinue her engagement."

A Battle Creek (Mich.) dispatch of June 29th says: "One of the most memorable meetings of Woodhullites yet held in this State came off yesterday and to-day. The principal manipulators of the meeting were W. F. Jamison, Mrs. L. E. Drake, D. W. Hall and J. O. Barrett. On Saturday afternoon, in the course of his lecture, W. F. Jamison performed the marriage ceremony by uniting a couple from Detroit named Dr. Murray and Mrs. Annie Guillon. They were commanded by the speaker to arise in their seats in the audience, when they were pronounced man and wife without even a word of consent from either party as to whether they accepted each other as man and wife or not. On Sunday the Woodhull teachings were boisterously discussed and indorsed by the speakers. The meeting is denounced by Spiritualists generally."

CHINA AND JAPAN.

Hongkong dates to July 12th furnish the four items annexed. The failure is announced of Messrs. Naumann, Gingold & Co., merchants of St. Mary Axe firm, established in 1869, in the China and Russian trade. Their transactions were chiefly in tea and tobacco, but it is understood that losses have been made of late in speculative operations on Stock Exchange. The liabilities are about £300,000, covered principally by goods. It is expected that £50,000 will rank against the estate, and the assets are estimated to produce about £15,000.

A joint stock company has been formed with the object of establishing a paper manufactory in Japan. The scheme has been registered with the title of the Japan Making Company (limited), and the capital is to be £50,000, in £20 shares.

The latest news from the north regarding the Audience question but too surely confirms the views put forward upon the first reception of intelligence that the chief principle at stake had been conceded by the Chinese. That no attempt would be made to demand from foreign Ministers the performance of the Kotlou, we were fully aware. Some acquaintance with Chinese official views in the matter, backed by authentic and special information derived from the best sources, enabled us to assert at an early date that the chief obstacle to an audience with the Chinese Emperor had been removed.

The China Mail of June 7th, contains the message from the Six Companies of San Francisco, urging the Chinese to remain at home.

The following is the message sent by the heads of the Chinese companies in San Francisco to Hongkong, explaining why no more Chinamen should leave home for California: "Foreigners dislike more Chinese come, new law eight feet for single man to live, over be prisoners, business undisturbed."

Yokohama dates to June 23d say concerning the De Long scandal: Some amusement, not unmingled with surprise, has been caused here by the ridiculous statements that have been made by the New York Tribune with reference to Mr. De Long, the American Minister to Japan. Some of the allegations are quite untrue, and others, malicious perversions of facts. The Tribune is being imposed upon.

For Sale,

850,000 Acres of Land

IN SOUTHERN OREGON.

Title Perfect—U. S. Land Grant Fully Confirmed.

THE "PACIFIC LAND COMPANY," INCORPORated with capital stock of 5,000 shares of par value of $240 each, have purchased the road and entire land grant of the "OREGON CENTRAL MILITARY ROAD COMPANY," consisting of over 850,000 acres of Agricultural, Grazing & Timber Lands,

Passing from Eugene City (125 miles from Portland by Railroad), through the splendid "Lake Country," to Silver City, near the border of Idaho

Each share of the PACIFIC LAND COMPANY thus representing now over 160 acres of land, and is UNASSESSABLE.

Three thousand shares belong to the Company, and will be offered for sale by us, the entire proceeds of which will go into the Treasury.

The first one thousand shares will be offered at $120 per share, United States Currency, or at the rate of 75 cents per acre. Every share will also be received at its par value of $240, in payment for land, as soon as the appraisals are made. Such shares will then be cancelled, and not reissued, and a deed given to the purchaser.

The land will be appraised at moderate rates, in accordance with its actual value, as soon as practicable, in sections of 640 acres, and at not less than $1 50 per acre, U. S. Currency, and offered for sale. Actual settlers, however, always having preference.

We refer, as to the character of this magnificent grant of land, to CLARENCE KING, Esq., the U. S. Geologist for this coast, who is familiar with it from personal observation, also to the elaborate report of the Hon. B. J. Pengra, late Surveyor General of Oregon, on this road and lands, from which we quote: "There is but very little of the entire grant but what is valuable for either Farming, Grazing or Lumbering purposes"

As shares are cancelled, the average of acres to the remaining shares will naturally increase, and from cash sales dividends will be declared

IMMIGRANTS,

BY BUYING THESE SHARES, CAN SECURE GOOD LANDS, WITH PERFECT TITLE, AT LESS THAN GOVERNMENT RATES.

For Custodians of Trust Funds, the shares of the PACIFIC LAND COMPANY combine absolute security, based on the lands, with promise of large returns, and no investment can be better for CHILDREN, as the value of the property must increase immensely in a few years

Remittances for shares can be sent to us by Wells, Fargo & Co., or in registered letters

Full particulars, maps and a descriptive pamphlet can be obtained at our office, where the subscription book for the shares is now open

CITY.

OREGON MUSEUM.—We are informed that several enterprising parties propose to establish a public museum in this city. A room has already been [illegible] in Smith's new brick building for that purpose. The room will soon be filled up, and is [illegible] ready to receive specimens by the 1st of [illegible]. A museum is one of the scientific [illegible] of this State and city. The collection will consist of stuffed birds and animals, insects, [illegible], fossils, mineralogical, geological, botanical and marine specimens of all kinds, relics, curiosities, whether artificial or natural, etc., etc. Such an enterprise ought to meet with favor and [illegible] at the hands of our liberal minded citizens. Hundreds of birds, animals and [illegible] inhabit and are peculiar to the [illegible] of Oregon, of which the scientific world are wholly ignorant. Students of science and the tourist who visits our State to learn [illegible] concerning its resources and natural [illegible] could acquire more desirable information by visiting and inspecting a complete museum, in a few hours, than by traveling over the whole State at considerable expense and at the sacrifice of [illegible]. A good museum would display Oregon in a nutshell. Parties throughout the State can do [illegible] for the cause of science and the reputation of Oregon by contributing to the museum anything of scientific or historic value. Letters or [illegible] directed to the "Oregon Museum, Portland," will be received by the parties who are inaugurating the enterprise. Public interest and the reputation of the State is involved in the [illegible] or failure of the enterprise, and we hope to see the efforts of these parties aided and encouraged through every laudable instrumentality.

SHOULD BE SEVERELY PUNISHED.—The hasty and reckless exhibition of firearms on the streets by [illegible] engaged in rows and altercations, ought to [illegible] with the severest condemnation of the law. As [illegible] of the danger, we cite to the disgraceful row that transpired last evening on [illegible] between the men Kennedy and Foy. There can be but little question that the discharge of the pistol while in Foy's hand was purely accidental, and that the drawing of the weapon was not with the intention of shooting Kennedy, but [illegible] a piece of ruffianly bravado. Still this fact [illegible] not palliate in any measure the of[illegible]. The pistol was discharged and its contents sent at random. At the time the street in all directions was crowded, and the life or lives of persons [illegible] thus placed in jeopardy—more so, if [illegible], than if the weapon had been pointed directly at the man Kennedy. As it was, the ball struck a Chinaman standing [illegible] distance away who was a quiet [illegible]. Fortunately the force of the ball [illegible] spent, and no serious damage resulted. But the chances are much against life under [illegible] circumstances. All must admit that the [illegible] and [illegible] handling of firearms is too [illegible], when there is trouble between parties [illegible] in an altercation. Persons who draw [illegible], with or without the intention of using them, ought to be held strictly responsible for [illegible], which may occur to spectators, or those who are quietly in pursuit of legitimate avocations. [illegible] law rigidly enforced in this respect [illegible] no doubt produce a salutary effect.

[illegible] REWARD.—James Newberry, City Marshal [illegible] Fort Scott, Kansas, has sent circulars to [illegible] of the United States, offering $4,000 for the [illegible] hension of the Bender family, the [illegible] of a series of murders in Kansas that [illegible] paralleled in the history of the country. This [illegible] family consist of the elder Bender [illegible] Kate and John, a daughter and son. [illegible] circulars was received a few [illegible] Caywood. To further the [illegible] in the detection of these [illegible] to their speedy apprehension, a [illegible] of each member of the [illegible] appended. The personal ap[illegible] of the father, mother and daughter, as [illegible] the hideous objects to look [illegible]. [illegible], a grown young man, is described [illegible] individual. Since the dis[illegible] of this murders, and the precipitate flight of the Benders, not the slightest clue [illegible] of the whereabouts of the [illegible]. Notwithstanding the authorities have [illegible] and unremitting efforts to trace [illegible]. With these circulars in the hands of [illegible] in the land, and the police force [illegible] of the Benders will find it convenient, as [illegible], to leave for other [illegible] in order to [illegible] obliterate their tracks.

A [illegible] SHOT.—Last evening about 8 o'clock a row [illegible] on Front street, [illegible] the corner of Pine, be[illegible] two [illegible] respectively Ed. [illegible] and Patsy Foy. The parties [illegible] had [illegible] difficulty on a scow, moored near the foot of the street. Foy lives on the scow, and Kennedy [illegible] on board, being heavily under the [illegible] of liquor, and began to use very bantering [illegible] language. The interview concluded with a fight, in which Kennedy [illegible] out [illegible]. The [illegible] of difficulty was transferred to Front, [illegible] the combatants were separated at the scow. After exchanging a number of somewhat discourteous [illegible], Kennedy drew a knife, and almost at the same instant Foy drew a pistol. By the rough and [illegible] handling the weapon was discharged. The ball did not strike Kennedy, although he was standing but a few yards away. It struck the sidewalk about a rod distant, and [illegible] across the street. A number of Chinamen [illegible] in range on the opposite side. One was struck in the back by the ball, but as its force was [illegible] spent, it inflicted only a slight [illegible]. In the meantime the weapon was taken from Foy's hands, and both the parties [illegible] and lodged in jail.

FALSE ALARM.—A sporting gentleman yesterday while cleaning out a double barreled shot gun [illegible] to discharge two blank cartridges in the [illegible]. He was standing, at the time, on a wharf to the [illegible] of a saloon. Hearing two reports [illegible] in the immediate vicinity of a [illegible], every one naturally supposed that a row [illegible]. In less time than it requires to tell, a number of persons rushed pell mell [illegible] the saloon, looking anxiously about for the two belligerents. Their surprise was complete when they perceived the gentlemanly "barkeep" standing tranquilly behind the counter, with not a single person in sight. Before questions could be asked or answered, the person who [illegible] inadvertently occasioned the excitement came in at the back door holding the fowling piece in his hand, from the muzzle of which smoke was still [illegible]. Mutual surprise prevailed until an explanation followed when all quietly dispersed, after indulging in the usual "smile."

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.—Judging from the accessions being made to its membership at almost every meeting, Excelsior Lodge, No. 1, Knights of Pythias, bids fair to stand high among organizations of the kind in this city at an early day. On Thursday evening the first meeting of the [illegible] term was held, and six candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the Order. But six [illegible] have elapsed since the organization of the first Lodge in Portland, and the Order now has a membership of over 50 members. The following are the officers recently elected by Excelsior Lodge: P. C., L. Lachman; C. C., George W. Roberts; V. C., William H. Utter; P., Isaac Blum, Mat A., W. K. [illegible], Acting Secretary. The Committee on Constitution and By Laws submitted their articles, which were adopted as received, without alteration. The next order of business was the election of [illegible] officers, which resulted as follows: President, R. A. Hughey; Vice President, John [illegible], 2d Vice President, Charles E. Warren, Secretary, A. C. Baily; Treasurer, A. L. Barlow, Sergeant-at-Arms, Charles Bowles. The Committee on the Pledge reported having obtained 119 signatures.

SEIZED.—U. S. Marshal Young seized the [illegible] Maria Wilkens yesterday on an order [illegible] from the U. S. District Court. The seizure was for indebtedness for wages claimed, and also for machinery, etc. Necessary bonds were given [illegible] afternoon by the owner, and the [illegible] was released by the Marshal and is again making her usual trips.

At the latter port a portion of her cargo will be discharged, when the vessel will proceed to this place.

DID NOT ARRIVE.—The first installment of terra cotta for the Stark street sewer, was to have arrived on Wednesday evening per steamer Gov. Grover. For some reason the tile did not reach here. Excavating has been suspended until the sewer has been laid for the distance of two blocks.

FINALLY DECIDED.

It is an old but true saying that a man is known by the books he reads and the company he keeps. This saying is illustrative of the great sewing machine war, in which nearly all of the second-class machines have played prominent parts, expending much ammunition and making forced marches attended with great loss. But our readers have not seen the name of the world-renowned GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINE flourished before the people in the above connection, and this dignified reserve has established the popularity of the GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINE, now and forever. It stands on its respectability and merits. These machines make the ELASTIC STITCH and SHUTTLE STITCH, and will be sold on installments of $10 per month. W. T. Shanahan, agent, 71 First street.

MISCELLANEOUS NOTES.

An Iowa horse tried to swallow himself last week, commencing at his left hind foot. At least he was found helplessly tangled up in his stall with the shoe of that foot so caught in his teeth that it took three men to get it out.

The following gem of descriptive writing was penned by an Illinois reporter in his description of a recent wedding. He says, "The Mayor galooted up the church aisle, swashying and gyrating like a Chinese Joss with the jim-jams."

The Emperor of China, in two official edicts, announces the degradation and punishment of the chief of the eunuchs for "handling the dishes carelessly," and of the chief of the stables for "not being punctual, and having his beasts in bad condition."

Texas is large and sparsely populated, but the poor people are doing the best they can. A Wade man is the father of fifty children, having had thirteen by his first wife, eighteen by his second, ten by his third, six by his fourth, and, thus far, three by his fifth.

Baltimore boys know what fun is. A crowd of them covered a cat with a robe of tar and hemp, the other night, and then set fire to it, causing the animal to do some startling gymnastics and sing a diverting dirge. Baltimore wants a few more monuments, boys' sizes.

Nashville has a black and white boy combination. He is half black and half white, not in the mulatto sense, but the lower half of his body is whiter than ordinary white folks, while his upper half is as black as midnight. On the top of his head is a little patch of straight silken hair, surrounded by kinky negro wool.

After Ironton, Ohio, had exhausted itself in dragging the river for the body of a drowned boy, an old woman came along and asked that an unwashed shirt of the boy should be thrown into the water, declaring that the garment would disappear directly over the body. The shirt was thrown in as directed, and, sure enough, it sank and the body was found. This story is attested by "trustworthy witnesses," whom we have not the slightest hesitation in commending as liars of distinguished ability.

Mr. Carpenter, of Marquette, Mich., had not the slightest idea that he was about to create an atmospherical disturbance when he knocked the ashes out of his pipe on the head of a powder keg. And when a fellow-workman conveyed all that was left of Mr. Carpenter to his wife in a bag, she quietly remarked, "Just his luck; hang him up in the wood-shed where the cats won't get at him, till night.

If there is any class of citizens who are an unmitigated nuisance, and ought to be shut up in an iron cage, it is these same "Enoch Ardens," who go off and stay until their wives are comfortably married to somebody that will stay at home and take care of them, and then persist in turning up and making trouble in the family. One appeared lately down in Maine, and the second husband had to return to private life, the labors and troubles of some ten years of married life being thrown away.—New York Mail.

A farmer and his wife called at a Detroit photograph gallery the other day to order some photographs of her, and while the wife was getting ready the husband gave the wife a little advice as to how she must act. "Fasten your mind on something," he said, "or else you will laugh and spile the job. Think about early days, how your father got in jail, and your mother was an old scolder, and what you'd have been if I hadn't pitied you! Just fasten your mind on to that!" She didn't have any photographs taken.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

How to Baffle Disease.

The man who puts a bullet through his head dies more speedily than he who is continually sending volleys of strong cathartic pills down his throat; but the drastic pillist is as fatal in the end as the leaden ball. It is only a question of time. Common sense should teach everybody that the idea of expelling disease by subverting the bodily vigor, which is its natural antagonist, is supremely absurd. There should be no purgation without invigoration and regulation. These three processes should go on together, and they do so in all cases where Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are used as a remedy for disease, or for the general debility growing out of a torpid state of the digestive and secretive organs. In this great vegetable restorative are mingled three essential elements of cure a purifying element, a tonic element, and an anti-billous element. By this means dyspepsia, billous disorders, intermittent fevers, sick headache, constipation and nervous debility are readily cured and effectually prevented.

The only unfailing specific for diseases of the kidneys, bladder, and the organs affected by vicious habits, is Helmbold's Extract Buchu. This medicine cures. Dr. Helmbold is the only physician who has succeeded in obtaining the full virtues of Buchu. His is the original and only truly valuable preparation. It is confided in by physicians and patients alike. It is important that sufferers should obtain the genuine. Therefore ask for Helmbold's Extract Buchu, with the Doctor's signature on the bottle.

To cure a cough, to relieve all irritations of the throat, to restore perfect soundness and health to the most delicate organizations of the human frame—the Lungs use Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, which is still prepared with the same care in the selection and compounding of its various ingredients as when it was introduced to the public by Dr. Wistar, over forty years since.

For coughs, colds and throat disorders, use "Brown's Bronchial Troches," having proved their efficacy by a test of many years.

A Tale of the California Mines, by Joaquin Miller.

[From the New York Independent.]

There was a company up the gulch above us. Portuguese were these—a quiet, unobtrusive set of men, with dogs and shot-guns and the quaintest little cabins in the world. Brown men, sailors, mostly, with ear-rings in their ears, and their shirt-bosoms open, clannish people, silent and respectful. Then there were other companies below, not unlike our own—a hundred men or more on this little mountain stream. Trees above us in eternal green, chaparral along the fierce and steep old mountain side, that pitched almost perpendicularly on either side the stream upon us, from which whistled the partridge through the day and called the gray cayote at night. No other sounds then these, but the rattling of the stones in the cradle or the tom and pick and shovel on the rocks. No doctors, no law, no lawyers, no thieves. Forty miles the nearest trading post. All things we brought from there across a wall of everlasting snow, upon our backs—bread and bacon and beans, and beans and bacon and bread, the whole year through. At last the dreaded scurvy came. Men suddenly fell ill, lost the use of their limbs: fell helpless on our hands. No help; nothing would do them good but change of place and change of diet. We could not carry them out across the snow. This was dreadful. You could not have seen these strong, brave men stricken there, helpless, dying day by day, without hope, and been silent. Sad! fearful!

There were six of them, and the worst case in the six was that of the man with the leather nose; all brought together, all lying looking helplessly, sadly into each other's faces, thinking of other faces, other scenes, in other lands. At last an old sailor suggested, as a last resort, a remedy. He had seen a ship's crew saved in some land in the tropics. We would try that. It was to place the men, stripped nude as nature, up to the chin in the earth, and leave them there through the night, till the loose and warm rich soil should draw the poison from their bodies.

There was reason in this. Besides, we had some evidence that it would save our men; for once, when a party of Indians attacked us, we won a fight and, following them a little way, we found a wounded Indian buried up to the eyes in the earth. They had done this in the hope of saving him, to try and heal his wound, and they are good physicians.

We dug six pits in the shadow of pine, in the warm alluvial soil, and there, as the sun went down, we stood the men up to the chin, and filled the earth in about them.

It was a lovely moonlight night, balmy and peaceful as a paradise. Not a sound save the doleful howl of a wolf in the crags above. Even in this condition the grim Russian was the center of interest. But he was as silent as helpless. His head inclined to one side, and rested on the loose, warm soil beside him. His hand was half hidden in the earth.

Oregon Jake was there, assisting as well as he might, in his awkward in his loose way, in the singular experiment and effort to save the lives of the stricken men.

But he was not gifted with any special gravity of bearing, and the grotesque picture before him, with all its sadness, had its comical feature.

He went up to Ginger and began to talk, as he looked now and then at the Russian over his shoulder. He half laughed as he did so.

The buried man heard him, lifted his head with an effort, and cried out, in a ghastly graveyard voice:

"Knock him down, Ginger; knock him down!"

Ginger, true to his helpless friend, knocked him down on the spot.

Again the feeble head of the helpless man settled over on the soft soil. He closed his eyes with the most perfect satisfaction, and [illegible] smiled till his white teeth looked like the [illegible] roof to a miniature cemetery.

After a while the tired miners began to retire, and, with a silent prayer for the success of the experiment, left it to time. The invalids were cheerful, and, now with a little hope, chatted gayly enough together, but looked strange beyond description—the six shaggy heads just bursting through the earth, like Banquo's, there in a row, in the fitful moonlight. It looked like men rising from the earth and coming up to judgment. Their voices sounded weird and ghostly, too, as of another world. After awhile one by one they fell asleep, and all was still save the howling of the wolf on the bluff above. I grew frightened like. I think the others did too. And one by one we stole away and left them there, as the night went on, and sought our bunks in the cabins, and threw us down in our clothes and slept. It was an experiment for life or death.

What a strange stupor overcomes men sometimes at night, who have been hard at work all day. Singular that we should have left those six men at midnight in the black shadows, with only here and there a ray of moonlight to relieve the scene. Strange that we could not keep awake.

The experiment was a failure. The wolves came down in the night and ate off every head level with the ground.

An African General.

CHAKA, "THE BLOODY"—AN INTERESTING STORY OF HIS CAREER—A NEGRO NAPOLEON—HE IS MURDERED AT LAST.

[From the Cornhill Magazine.]

The Zulus, who live north of Natal, are paramount among the tribes of South Africa, and they gained this preeminence through the commanding energy and ability of one man, Chaka, who, had he been a European, would surely have been called "the great," but being only an African barbarian, is simply surnamed "The Bloody." Previous to his reign his people were first among their brethren. They occupied a tract of land of not more than ten or twelve square miles in extent. Chaka was a son of the chief of this little community. From some peculiar circumstances attending upon his birth he was regarded by the people as the possessor of superhuman gifts. Probably his mother, in her ambition for her child, suborned the medicine men to fabricate a lying wonder on his behalf. But as he grew in years he did not disappoint the expectations that were thus formed of him. He was tall in stature, great in strength, and in all deeds of daring and energy he outstripped those of his own age. The reputation which these qualities obtained for him excited the jealousy of his father, and Chaka, to save his life, fled to the Amatetwe a neighboring tribe, whose chief gave him protection. With these people he remained until he was thirty years of age, when his father died, by which time he was distinguished above all men as the possessor of gifts that are in high esteem with the Zulus. By the aid of some of the Amatetwe he made himself chief of his own people; and the first act that signalized his reign was the putting to death of all whom he suspected of being hostile to himself. This was sanguinary, but from his point of view no worse, and fully as necessary as the coup d'etat by which more civilized potentates have obtained the supreme power. His next exploit was to make war upon and subdue the tribe that had protected him when he was an exile. This was ungrateful, but men of great ambition ever have contemplated ingratitude as great. Then he abolished the old laws, and enacted the Code Chaka, by which as chief, he was invested with absolute personal authority, and, as in more enlightened lands, the entire nation was made subservient to the production and maintenance of an army. Then he introduced a new system of warfare. He marshaled his troops into regiments, which were formed into three divisions, a portion of each being incorporated with every force that took the field. Instead of the ordinary bush fighting he made his men fight at close quarters; and for the slender javelin that was thrown at a distance he substituted a stabbing spear of stouter materials, the loss of which was punished with death. For defensive purposes he gave to each man a large shield made of buffalo hide. His discipline was severe. His soldiers had no alternative but to conquer or die, for retreat, even when compelled thereto by superior numbers, was visited by him with death. But such a punishment was rarely necessary; for Chaka was a consummate general, and had the art of inspiring his followers with his own irresistible spirit.

He made war upon all around him, and tribe after tribe was conquered, until he had been proclaimed victorious from the Mapoota to the Umzimvubu. Having thus satisfied his warlike ambition, he directed his energies to the consolidation of his empire. And in the doing of this he seemed to have earned his terrible surname as much by the merciless exercise of his despotic power upon those who had become "his people," as by his warfare upon his enemies. As he grew old his natural force abated, his servants conspired against him, and he was murdered on the 23d of September, 1828. Many rejoiced at his death; but the Zulus cherish the memory of his greatness, swear by the terror of his name, and have made his war song their national anthem. And, judging him by the standard of his possibilities, he was worthy of his honor. One of a number of petty and conflicting kingdoms he made an empire which did not disappear at his death. Out of an undisciplined rabble he organized an army of 100,000 men, which has been found to be irresistible by every native force against which it has been hurled. And the influence of his life has extended far beyond the boundaries of his own dominions.

A COURSE OF STUDY FOR WOMEN AT HARVARD.—Although the University at Cambridge still refuses to admit women as students within its walls, it is quite willing to assist in what is called their higher education, and to give them opportunity for collegiate study under its supervision. The faculty of the college have just made arrangements for the examination of women in a course of study carefully marked out for them and published with full a list of the necessary books. The preliminary examination will be held for the first time in June of next year, and will embrace English, French, physical geography, botany or physics, arithmetic algebra through quadratic equations, plain geometry, history and either Greek, Latin, or German.

An advanced examination will be held for girls who have passed the preliminary one. No girl under seventeen is received at the first examination, none under eighteen at the second. No degrees are conferred on female students, but they receive certificates signed by the president, declaring that A B has passed, passed with distinction, or passed with the highest distinction, the preliminary or advanced examination held under the direction of the faculty of Harvard College. The fee for the preliminary examination is $15; that for the advanced, $10. Notices of the place and time of the examination will be sent to candidates. The Woman's Education Association will take charge of those held in Boston, will provide board and lodging, and assist in paying the cost of the examinations for those girls who need such help. The examination will last seven days.—Boston Advertiser.

MARVELOUSNESS OF GIRLS.—Girls are marvels of beauty and wonderfully made. Though fashioned by the hands of the Creator they are shaped by the dress-maker and milliners. It takes exactly two hundred and eleven pounds of flesh and blood, thirty-two yards of dress material, ninety-seven yards of yellow-ribbon, twelve pounds of cotton, twenty-four copies of the Coach, sixteen feet of horse hair, thirty-three ounces of flour, two boxes of red paint, and a bottle of night blooming seriousness to prepare the average Rocky Mountain girl for church. They know less in an hour, and can tell more in a minute, than any person on earth. Their strong suit is to make trouble and bustles, and the proficiency they have acquired is the conundrum of the age. In a game of talk they invariably hold the right bower or take the ace with the king. They are totally ignorant of the rules of civilized warfare, and never let up when they get a fellow down. A girl can look pretty and ugly, happy and sorrowful, hot and cold, sweet and sour, sentimental and disgusted in ten seconds, and the only place in the world where the boys have the best of them is in sitting up nights. Yet with all their faults we love them still, and a few more of our photographs may be had by addressing the Driver and enclosing fifty cents. Marriage proposals must be prepaid.—The Colorado Coach.

CHARGES AGAINST GENERAL HOWARD.—Attorney General Williams has delivered an opinion in the case of General Howard. He says that the papers furnished him are incomplete, in not requiring bonds from the Commissioners of the Freedmen's Bureau and its chief officer, and in other respects. The Attorney General differs from the opinion of the late Secretary Stanton, that bonds were not required of any army officer detailed to this duty. In response to the query as to what course should be pursued in cases where considerable sums have been taken from the Treasury by means of forged receipts and vouchers for bounties due to colored soldiers, and to what extent the Commissioner and the chief disbursing officer are responsible, he says: "Offenders can be proceeded against criminally and civilly, or against persons responsible for their acts, by the Government. The bond of $10,000 required from the Commissioner from and after October 31, 1871, does not cover any default prior to that date. Nor is the Commissioner liable for the acts of his assistants under the act of 1865, but under the joint resolution of 1867 the Commissioner is explicitly held for all money paid under that act, and he is also responsible civilly for the acts of his subordinates." The Attorney General says that the Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau is therefore liable for all losses of the Government by defaulting subordinates or other persons employed by him, under the joint resolution of 1867.

SURPRISING RESUSCITATION.—A remarkable case of resuscitation has taken place at the hospital of the Val-de-Grace, at Paris. A man had hanged himself in a garret in the Rue Saint Jacques, and, having been cut down and examined by the medical men, was pronounced to be dead. The clinical lecturer, however, desired to try one last experiment, and he opened the chest and attempted artificial respiration, but without success. He then applied the pole of an electrical battery to the pneumo-gastric nerves, and passed a strong current at intervals of four seconds. Soon after some signs of respiration appeared, and in five minutes the cardiac pulsation was perceptible. The epiglottis was tumified, and the tongue had to be drawn out, with pincers to leave a passage for the air. A few ounces of blood were obtained from the mediocephalic vein, the dilated pupils contracted, the sign of life became more and more manifest, a few drops of alcohol were administered, some slight muscular contractions became visible without the aid of electricity, warmth returned to the feet, the pulsation in the carotid arteries recommenced, and the patient was saved.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

THURSDAY EVENING, July 17, 1873.

Gold in New York to-day, 115¾.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 85½ buying; 87½ selling.

Gold bars are quotable at 500 fine.

Wheat in Liverpool—Average California, 11s 9d@11s 11d; club, 12s 3d@12s 6d.

A New York dispatch of Wednesday last states that "there were six proposals to sell bonds to the Government to-day, aggregating $323,150, at from 115.45 to 115 76; bonds purchased to be paid for in national bank notes. Two hundred and seven thousand eight hundred and fifty dollars in bonds were accepted at 115.49 to 115.87."

The business of the week specially under review has been marked by no unusual features in financial matters. Eastern and California advices denote a large surplus in the hands of produce buyers which is being pretty extensively disbursed, a fact which is tending to loosen the bonds of the money market, and for a period at least to revive the commerce of the country at large. Merchants and shippers managed to weather the storm fairly last season, and their prospects are at least as good, if not better, now than they were one year ago, though there are those who predict a recurrence of the last season's scarcity before the close of the year.

In our local market the number of buyers is greater than last year, and prices for grain may open a little higher, but for wool, rates are much lower and without any manifest tendency to appreciate at present. However, with better and cheaper facilities for inland transportation and equal prices in the markets of demand, we look for the producers of our State to realize as well if not better than during the harvest year just now closed.

Business of the Week.

During the present week we have observed much more than the average activity in nearly all branches of trade in our city. Importing houses are receiving large additions to their stocks, and orders from the interior have been quite liberal for the season. The sale of agricultural implements, of which some of our dealers have very large and varied stocks, has been quite encouraging. Though the produce receipts have not been large, if we except Wheat and Wool, prices have generally been better than last week. The presence of six or seven sea going vessels at our wharves during the week, have added to the general appearance of renewed life in the commercial affairs of our stirring city.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—As the parties holding the vessels now in port have sufficient in hail to load them, there is but little disposition to urge the market or make large orders. San Francisco rates for shipping have declined to an average of $1 65, and ours is weak at $1 50. From present indications no change is likely to occur before the new crop comes in.

FLOUR—The San Francisco market is depressed, and though the telegraph quotes best California brands selling at $5 50 per bbl, we are in receipt of reliable information by last steamer to the effect that no flour commands that rate or has commanded for some three or four weeks, the maximum being $5 20. Oregon millers just now prefer to hold or ship elsewhere rather than take that figure. Our home quotations are without change, though the market is perhaps rather weaker. Standard brands of extra, $5, outside brands, $4 50, fine, $4, superfine, $3 75, are fair quotations, though small declines might be expected by cash buyers.

OATS—The demand is fully as good as last week, owing to a few unusual orders to be filled. The amount offering is not large, and sales are effected more readily at 45c ₽ bushel, including sacks. The surplus yet in the hands of producers is thought to be small, but the near approach of harvest will probably keep prices down to our present quotations.

BARLEY—The supply on hand here and the receipts only moderately supply the demand for local consumption. The transactions during the week have been meagre, generally at 1 45@1 45 ₽ 100 lbs.

HAY—The demand is still dull, and quotations without material change. Good timothy in full supply at $12@13 ₽ ton.

POTATOES—The receipts of the new crop have been quite adequate to supply the demand, and prices have declined to 50c ₽ bushel.

BUTTER—We note some decrease in receipts during the past few days, but stocks on hand are fully sufficient to meet the wants of the trade. We quote good to best at 18@25c ₽ lb; common, 15@18c.

EGGS—The market is hardly so abundantly supplied, and offers are made at 21@22½ ₽ dozen.

BACON—The local trade is abundantly supplied and the export demand is dull, consequently we are unable to note any improvement in prices. Good country cured Hams are firm at 13@14½c ₽ lb; Sides, 10@11½c, Shoulders, 8@9c. Trade is inactive.

CHICKENS—The market is well supplied with spring Chickens, and prices have been down to $1 75 ₽ dozen during the week. We quote to-day at $3 for average lots. Grown Hens and Roosters in better demand at $4 @4 50 ₽ dozen.

HIDES—Much activity is realized in the market, and buyers are freely offering current rates, which are furnished at 6@7c ₽ lb for green, 7@8c for green salted, and 14@15c for dry. Shipments continue large.

WOOL—Our market still continues fairly active, buyers being on the alert to catch all offering at their bids, which are often refused, many growers preferring to hold for an advance, concerning the coming of which there is grave question. However, our latest advices from the East, both by mail and telegraph, show rather more hopefully the state of the market. A New York dispatch of the 16th inst. is as follows: "The Boston Wool market is firm with a fair demand for California. Advices from abroad are favorable, and manufacturers are purchasing constantly. Sales include 325,000 pounds of Spring Cal. at 24@35c, and 67,000 pounds Cape and Australian on private terms." Our quotations are 20@23c ₽ lb, at which the aggregate purchases for the week have been quite large. The receipts up to date have been near 1,000,000 pounds.

LYON'S KATHAIRON

Only 50 Cents per Bottle.

It promotes the GROWTH, PRESERVES the COLOR, and increases the Vigor and BEAUTY of the HAIR.

OVER THIRTY YEARS AGO LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR was first placed in the market by Professor E. Thomas Lyon, a graduate of Princeton College. The name is derived from the Greek "KATHRO," signifying to cleanse, purify, rejuvenate, or restore. The favor it has received, and the popularity it has obtained, is unprecedented and incredible. It increases the GROWTH and BEAUTY of the HAIR. It is a delightful dressing. It eradicates dandruff. It prevents the Hair from turning gray. It keeps the head cool, and gives the hair a rich, soft, glossy appearance. It is the SAME in QUANTITY and QUALITY as it was over a QUARTER of a CENTURY AGO, and is sold by all Druggists and Country Stores at only 50 Cents per Bottle.

DR. C. G. GLASS.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system? Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies, see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who in all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the faces, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in a registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are ill-trained and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

Our correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregon
